Application for an Education Grant

Information on Confidentiality Policy

The Healing Fund for Japanese Canadians offers programs for community education and healing for survivor families of Nakayama's clergy sexual abuse and for the communities that have been affected. These healing initiatives are possible through funding from the Anglican Church of Canada as a step in the reconciliation process. If you require any help with this form please contact a member of the Healing Fund. A list of frequently asked questions can be found at www.anglicanhealingfundforjapanesecanadians.com/faq

All personal information provided by applicants will be confidential between you and the Healing Fund for Japanese Canadians Project Office – referred to as the Healing Fund PO. The Anglican Church of Canada does not have access to these application forms or email correspondence. Applicants will not have contact with representatives of the Anglican Church of Canada. Any questions or concerns can be raised to a member of the Healing Fund.

Survivors and members of survivor families currently engaged in postsecondary educational, vocational or training programs are eligible to apply for an education grant. This applies retroactively to June 15, 2015.

How to apply

1. Fill in the application questionnaire.
2. Attach your academic, vocational or training program transcripts dating from June 15, 2015.
3. Send your application package in an email to anglicanhealingfund@najc.ca with your name and the title of the program in the subject line. For example, "B. Yamato, Education Grant Application."
